

Assistant/Associate Professor of Criminal Justice and Legal Studies
Full-Time, On Campus
Expected Start July 1, 2023

Full-time, on-campus, tenure-track faculty position to teach undergraduate Criminal Justice and Legal Studies courses on campus within the School of Arts and Sciences. Teaching responsibilities are assigned by the Chair of the Department of Humanities and Social Science.

ESSENTIAL FUNCTIONS OF THE JOB:

- Teach courses in criminal justice and legal studies according to graduate training and experience. Classes may include Introduction to Criminal Justice, Criminology, American Constitutional Law, and other criminal justice and legal studies courses. A normal teaching load is 24 credits each year.
- Advise students in the Criminal Justice and Legal Studies program.
- Stay abreast of scholarly developments in specific and relevant fields as well as current teaching methodologies, curriculum development, and assessment.
- Contribute to the field of criminal justice and/or the profession of college-level teaching.
- Engage in general faculty responsibilities that include: Participation in department and faculty meetings, care of students, Crown College committee assignments, and at least 10 hours of scheduled office hours per week to be available to students.

REQUIRED KNOWLEDGE, SKILLS AND ABILITIES:

- Demonstrated experience and expertise teaching criminal justice and legal studies courses at the college level
- Strong interpersonal skills and positive energy regarding professional education
- Established ability to work effectively as a team member
- Demonstrate excellence in spoken, written and electronic communication skills
- Ability to integrate collegiate teaching and the Christian faith
- Experience evaluating students' work and reporting results promptly
- Agreement and personal alignment with the Crown College Statement of Faith and Community Covenant

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS:

- Master's level degree in criminal justice, legal studies, or a related field
- Demonstrated teaching effectiveness
- Work experience in criminal justice or law
- Experience using computer technology in the teaching/learning process

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS (in addition to the above minimum qualifications):

- A PhD in Criminal Justice or related field
- 5+ years of full-time teaching experience, especially in Christian higher education
- Familiarity and/or experience with standards and assessments
- Experience with advising

TO APPLY:

Email cover letter and CV to facultyjobs@crowncollege.edu